

The nominal value for cycle time should be 120 and you should try both plus and minus from that number to see if you can get rid of the problem. If the number is too far off, you will not be able to decode any DMR signal.

If you find a number that works, please e-mail to jerry@connectsystems.com to tell us what number works for you.